

Chesterfield County's Centenarian Club

Do you have a friend or family member celebrating their birthday of 100 years or more? Chesterfield County would like to honor your loved one's wealth of experience and longevity through its Centenarian Program, administered by the Chesterfield County Senior Advocate's office. Those residents who are 100 years of age or older are one of the county's most vital resources. Our Centenarians hold the keys to longevity and quality of life. The community continues to learn from their life experiences.

Below are the eligibility requirements for consideration into the Centenarian Club. If you are a Centenarian or are aware of one and would like them to be recognized, please fill out the following application and submit it to the Senior Advocate's office prior to the Centenarian's birthday. The honoree must be a resident of Chesterfield County.

In addition to recognition by the Board of Supervisors, the office will also make a connection with the White House Greetings Office to request that each Centenarian receive a letter from the president. (No less than two months if you want us to secure the information from the White House.) The information will also be shared with the legislative delegation.

Listed below are the eligibility requirements for consideration into the Centenarian Club. The following information must be submitted to the Senior Advocate's office.

- Completed application form
- Proof of age (100 years old or more) submitted at time of request (copy only)
- Proof that nominee permanently resides in Chesterfield county (copy only)
 - Private residence
 - Assisted Living facility
 - Proof of residency required

Information can be submitted in three ways: The information can be faxed to 804-717-6211, emailed to Leidheiserd@chesterfield.gov or mailed to:
